

VELVA DAWN

Energizing Your Soul: Mastering Divine Balance

Unlocking Love, Success, and Fulfillment

Photography: Svetlana Yanova

Velva Dawn Silver is a renowned expert in the art of harmonizing the Divine Union of Feminine and Masculine Energies, unlocking the path to love, success, and a more fulfilling life. Through her transformative courses, books, and programs, she has touched the lives of countless individuals, both men and women, seeking deeper and more joyful relationships, accelerated abundance, and long-awaited healing and realignment. A keynote speaker, natural intuitive, and enthusiastic traveler, Velva Dawn Silver stands as a leading authority on the synergy between Masculine and Feminine Energies and its profound impact on personal relationships and overall success. As the visionary behind The Goddess Healing Matrix System™ and Goddess Girl Power™—dedicated to empowering girls aged eight to eighteen with the Divine Feminine—Velva Dawn has authored several enlightening works, including “Ancient Secrets of the Goddesses,” “Awakening of the Divine Oracle Cards,” and her latest masterpiece, “Unwinding the Divine Masculine.” When not immersed in her transformative work, Velva Dawn finds solace in the crystal-clear waters of the Pacific Ocean in Hawaii, as well as the serene lakes and cascading waterfalls near her Canadian home. A devoted mother of three daughters, she also serves as a trusted mentor to a vast community of followers, all seeking her wisdom and guidance on tapping into and liberating their Divine energy to its fullest expression.

Can you give us some background about where you're from and what brought you into this beautiful space.

So, I'm actually a small-town girl. I grew up in a little hamlet in Huxley, Alberta, Canada. Our family lived on a mixed grain and cattle farm, and my grandparents were really close by. Growing up, I developed a deep love for the prairie, a strong sense of community, and a solid grounding in the rural roots of agriculture. Those early years in the countryside shaped who I am today.

Could you share one of the most significant moments of enlightenment that reconnected you with this transformative space?

At the age of 44, my life took a profound turn when I suffered a heart attack. My marriage was already unraveling, and we were amidst a painful separation. With three daughters to care for, the heart attack landed me in the Critical Care Unit for a week. It was during those solitary hours in the hospital bed that I found myself deeply contemplating life. Questions swirled within me: What were my beliefs? Was I truly content with the life I was living? What legacy did I want to leave behind if I were no longer here? This experience urged me to delve into the depths of reevaluating everything I had grown up with and everything I knew up to that point. I distinctly recall a phone call from my friend Angie in Hawaii during that time. She said to me, "If you want to go, that's okay." I pondered that thought, but deep down, I knew it wasn't my time to depart this world. I still had a purpose to fulfill. I was determined to become a strong role model for my daughters, and that meant choosing myself. Choosing myself meant disentangling from my failing marriage, as it had become a source of profound inner turmoil. Within that relationship, I had lost touch with joy, and I knew I needed to find it within myself. To do so, I needed the courage to spread my wings and venture out on my own for a while. It was a journey toward self-discovery and personal growth that would ultimately lead me to where I am today.

What advice would you now give to yourself looking back at that moment?

The advice I would offer to my younger self is this: Life is an inside job. The external world is merely a reflection of what's transpiring within us. I've come to understand that the most crucial thing we can do is find moments of stillness in the midst of life's hustle and bustle. It's about achieving a balance between action and stillness. Another valuable piece of advice I'd give my younger self is this: Embrace the necessity of pushing beyond the boundaries of your comfort zone to foster growth. Growth inevitably involves confronting fear. Fear is a constant companion whenever we venture beyond the familiar. However, it's courage that holds the key to unlocking your own happiness. That's my resounding message – courage is the cornerstone of personal growth and fulfillment.

What are your services and offers launching at this time?

I assist women in tapping into this transformative journey through a variety of services and offerings. These include my writing, which encompasses blogs and books, as well as my Oracle deck. I also offer one-on-one coaching through the Goddess Healing Matrix System, a comprehensive four-level program that's accessible online. Additionally, I provide scholarships for the first level of this program during my annual Shine Event held every Spring. I conduct online readings to provide insights and guidance, and I maintain a robust social media presence to engage with and support the community. I offer the first level of my program, known as the "Higher Priestess Practitioner," which will take place in Calgary from October 26th to 28th, 2023. For those who can't make it in person, it's also available online. Additionally, I'll be hosting the same program in Ponoko from November 9th to 11th of this year. Looking ahead, I'm excited to announce my annual Shine Event, scheduled for Spring of 2024. This event promises to be a transformative experience for all attendees. And for those seeking a deeper journey, I'll be leading a trip to Thailand in March 2024, offering a unique opportunity for personal growth and exploration in a beautiful and spiritually rich setting.

What are the intentions or desires you are presently actively manifesting, and how can we collaborate in co-creating them?

Both professionally and personally, I am deeply committed to expanding the reach and impact of my work, the Goddess Healing Matrix. My vision is to work with the divine feminine energy on a global scale, to foster a community of women supporting women. My goal is to create a network of empowered women who are not only embracing their own divine feminine essence but are also actively helping others do the same. Together, we can tap into the profound strength and wisdom that lies within us, and by doing so, we can catalyze positive change and transformation on a global level. I would absolutely love for the Goddess Healing Matrix system to have a worldwide reach and a global impact. This has always been my goal for the system—to unite women from all cultures into one harmonious community. It's incredibly fulfilling to envision women from diverse backgrounds coming together as a powerful collective force, transcending cultural boundaries and embracing the wisdom and strength of the divine feminine.

Regarding your embodiment, success, and your current journey, what daily practices do you engage in to establish a foundation for a productive and successful day?

Energy work plays a pivotal role in my life, and I have several practices that I hold dear to my heart. Creativity is another important aspect, expressed through writing and the creation of music. These creative outlets serve as channels for my innermost thoughts and feelings. Nature is a constant wellspring of vitality for me. I find solace and rejuvenation in its embrace. Water, in particular, holds a special place in my heart. It's my sanctuary, my solstice. I spend a significant amount of time swimming, especially when I'm in Hawaii. There, I've had the privilege of swimming alongside Ironman and dolphins. Observing these magnificent creatures and immersing myself in the underwater world is profoundly grounding and connects me to the depths of existence.

My arm bears a tattoo that reads "as above and below," symbolizing my belief in bridging heaven and earth. Each morning, I start my day with a swim in the ocean, allowing the gentle waves to wash over me. I also enjoy sipping a cup of coffee on the lanai, gazing out at the vast ocean while listening to the melodious songs of birds. This simple ritual keeps me grounded and connected to the natural world. Drawing an oracle card is a daily practice that helps me receive guidance from the divine. Exercise is essential for me as well; it allows my body to release old energies, making space for fresh insights and inspiration. It's a physical expression of transformation and forgiveness, a process I engage in daily to expand my self-love and open my heart. Meditation is a cornerstone of my daily routine. It provides moments of stillness and reflection, nurturing my inner peace and connection to the divine. Through these practices, I continuously align with higher vibrations, fostering personal growth, and embracing the boundless love and wisdom of the universe.

“I believe that being fearless and listening within what you know, is the key to being a badass woman. Igniting the goddess flame lights the path during the times of darkness, because we all have times of darkness.”